

MASTER OF ARTS IN CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION

The MA in Curriculum and Instruction equips teachers with knowledge of current research in education and culturally responsive pedagogical practices to support their work in diverse school settings.

The program includes:

- A focus on integrating core content areas across the curriculum
- Engagement in action research and self study as tools to improve educational outcomes
- Opportunities to engage in analysis and receive feedback on your teaching as it develops
- Elective areas of specialization including language and literacy, math education, integrated teaching credential + MA, and other areas of specialization under advisement

Admission to Program

Applicants must hold a bachelor’s degree from an accredited university. Additional entrance requirements include:

- A 3.0 GPA in the undergraduate degree or last 60 semester (90 quarter) units attempted, including credential courses.
- A valid preliminary or clear single subject or multiple subject teaching credential OR concurrent enrollment in a credential program in the SFSU Department of Elementary or Secondary Education. Exceptions may be granted for applicants who have at least three years prior experience in a relevant educational settings (such as museum or informal education) that do not require a credential.
- Evidence of employment as a full or part-time teacher or evidence of permission to work on a regular basis within a school setting through a volunteer program or other agreement.
- Evidence of written English proficiency.

Students who are seeking their preliminary Multiple Subject or Single Subject Credential may apply to the MA in Curriculum and Instruction concurrently with their application to the credential program in the Department of Elementary or Secondary Education. Students who enroll in the concurrent program may count 12 graded units of their credential coursework toward partial fulfillment of the area of specialization requirement.

Written English Proficiency Requirement

Level One

Written English proficiency will be assessed on the Personal Statement, submitted to the department as part of the application.

Students admitted conditionally or not meeting the written English proficiency standards must demonstrate that they have met the Level One Written English proficiency requirement by completing the final assignment in S ED 860 with a grade of B or better.

Level Two

Writing proficiency will be assessed based on the Field Study Report submitted as the culminating experience for E ED/ S ED 895 or E ED/ SED 890. All students in the program must complete an 895 or 890 project.

Course Progression Requirements

Students who are admitted concurrently to the Multiple or Single Subject Credential + MA in Curriculum and Instruction must meet all credential program pre-requisites and receive their advisor’s approval prior to enrollment in MA specific courses.

Students must complete either S ED 860 or ISED 797 prior to the semester in which they complete their culminating experience (E ED 895/S ED 895 or E ED 890).

Students may take no more than one remaining MA class concurrently with their culminating experience.

Program Learning Outcomes

- Analyze key issues in k-12 students’ understanding of core content knowledge in area of specialization and articulate area of concern under investigation in students’ original research.
- Critically examine pedagogical approaches intended to increase k-12 students’ access to and mastery of core content knowledge in area of specialization
- Analyze issues of equity, access, and social justice related to children’s learning and teaching and leadership practices in k-12 contexts.
- Construct coherent and sound inquiry and reflection goals and practices with support from multiple sources, including online and library resources as well as other existing resources in the field of early childhood education.

Culminating Experience (3 units)

In consultation with an advisor, students will complete either E ED 895/S ED 895 or E ED 890 as their culminating experience. In both options, students will complete an original research project based on the practitioner research model. In the E ED 890 field study seminar option, students produce a more concise written component focused on the theoretical framework, literature review, and analysis in addition to a professional level, public presentation of the study that is designed to benefit other professionals in the field. A project is a significant undertaking appropriate to the fine and applied arts or to professional fields. It evidences originality and independent thinking, appropriate form and organization, and a rationale. It is described and summarized in a written abstract that includes the project's significance, objectives, methodology and a conclusion or recommendation. An oral defense of the project may be required.
